

WEB RESOURCES FOR *THE ALICIA LEARY PROGRESS FOUNDATION

The following websites have all kinds of interesting information and fun activities connected to what you are learning in The Alicia Leary Progress Foundation. To explore each site, first copy its web address into the address bar on your computer's browser. Then press the Return key on your key board, and you're at the site!

ACLU Freedomwire

Freedomwire has articles and cartoon strips on current civil rights issues that might be of interest to you. It includes links to surveys and contests, as well as information about getting involved in your community. Additionally, you can download information and an application for the ACLU's scholarships for high school civil-rights activists.

www.aclu.org/freedomwire

Rock the Vote

Founded by members of the recording industry in 1990, Rock the Vote uses popular culture to bring its message to new young voters. Rock the Vote really shows you the power of civic and political participation. It asks voting-age young people to get involved in their communities by registering, voting, and speaking out.

www.rockthevote.org

Do Something

This great organization uses the power of the Internet to get teens to volunteer offline. Through its "Volunteer Near You" feature, it'll help you match your passion and ideas to volunteering opportunities in your community. It'll also support you in your efforts to start your own volunteering project.

<http://www.dosomething.org>